Press Release

Dear Thunder SC Members,

We are proud to announce our partnership with MedStar Sports Medicine.

For more than a quarter-century, the experts at MedStar Sports Medicine have been treating Maryland's athletes and active adults. From little leaguers and high school athletes to pros, weekend warriors and seniors, their specialists bring their understanding of sports medicine to treating common injuries and conditions. At MedStar Sports Medicine, most of the sports medicine specialists are former athletes themselves and understand the frustration of being sidelined after an injury.

As the official medical team of the Baltimore Ravens, MedStar Sports Medicine offers the region's best in sports medicine, doctors, services and the latest in medical rehab and technology.

What sets apart the people who make up the MedStar Sports Medicine team is their level of experience in treating athletes and their dedication to understanding all aspects of sports injuries, including researching injury causes and prevention and developing new innovations for more efficient treatment and rehabilitation.

With this partnership we would like to provide the best possible experience for our players; prevent them from injuries; provide qualified experts when to help in the recovery process from potential injuries; building trust to establishing relationships, creating awareness, gaining feedback, and achieving results.

Thunder SC by becoming an affiliated partnership with MedStar Sports Medicine will join clubs and organization such as the Baltimore Ravens, the Baltimore Blast, Arundel Soccer Association, etc.

On Monday, September 28 at the Clubwide trainings we will introduce our official contact person, Tim Happel, with MedStar Sports Medicine. Materials about the physicians and specialty programs will be provided and be available to speak with parents.
